DISTRIBUTION

[illegible]

1. V. A. Chilikin has ordered his wife and son to cease inviting to their home various former friends from among Poles, Czechs, Yugoslavs, and other USSR satellite nationals, as he is not sure they can be trusted. Soviet Consul General Khalin told Chilikin recently [redacted] that many of these USSR satellite subjects are "already ripe for changing sides." 50X1-HUM
2. Khalin, Bogov (director of TASS in China), and Miheyev (director of the Moscow Narodny Bank) appear depressed and seem unable to conceal their fear of being involved in some kind of slander because of their previous open and intimate relations with many persons outside the close official and Party circles in Shanghai. Relations between these men and Torgpredstvo appear strained. 50X1-HUM
3. Chilikin feels that he is under special observation by unknown members of the Security Police in Shanghai and believes that among his staff and friends someone has been assigned to watch him.
4. I. I. Druri and N. M. Yakovlev, prominent Soviet businessmen who have been planning to leave for [redacted] have postponed their departure indefinitely. The proposed trips of various other Soviet and USSR satellite subjects have also been postponed "pending clarification of the situation." 50X1-HUM
